Property tax forms to be sent out by county collector

The 2013 Mound City property taxes, for the first time, will be collected by the Holt County Collector, Donna Cotton, and not by City Hall officials in Mound City.

Property tax forms should be in the mail next week, Cotton said, and will have instructions on how Mound City residents should pay their city taxes. One important note, however, is that those with delinquent taxes must pay these at City Hall in Mound City before sending this year's taxes to Holt County.

Those with questions on the 2013 forms may contact Cotton at the Holt County Courthouse in Oregon, MO.

Big Lake Campground closed until 2015 for redesign

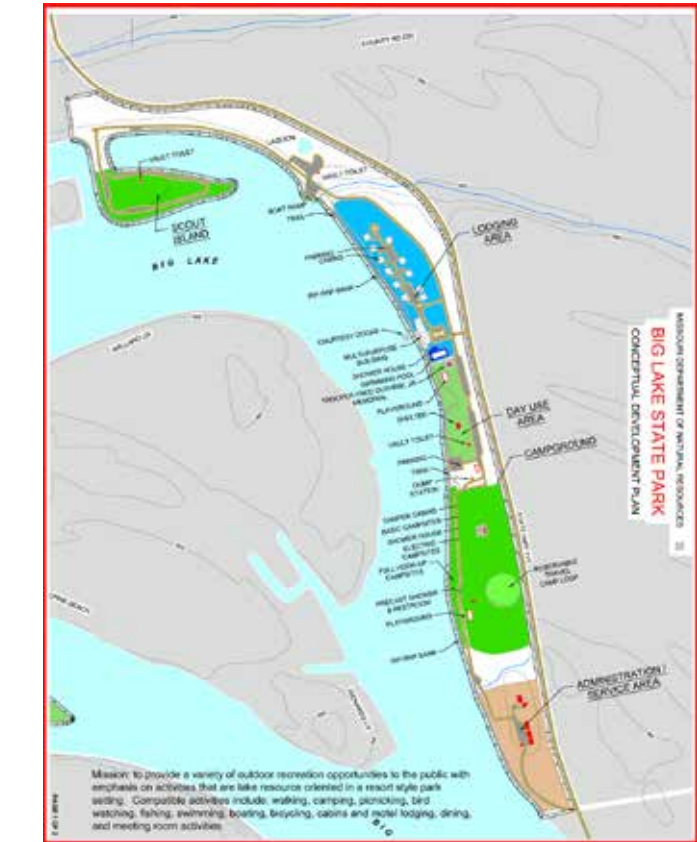

Holt County's Big Lake State Park Campground, which closed after the 2011 flood, will remain so until 2015 for an extensive redesign. Starting in early 2012, the Department of Natural Resources began re-evaluating the park's layout. Three public meetings were held in Holt County, and the department gathered input and discussed the future of the popular campground destination.

"The feedback was very valuable," Steph Deidrick, division information officer for Missouri State Parks, wrote in a letter to the Mound City News. "The department has incorporated that input into the park's Conceptual Development Plan."

The plan has four basic goals:

1. Provide facilities that are harmonious with the natural and cultural resources;
2. Provide the public with safe and controlled access;
3. Provide adequate visitor orientation, recreation, interpretation and education facilities to enhance the public's understanding, appreciation and enjoyment of the site's resources;
4. And provide adequate administration, operation and maintenance support facilities to protect, secure and maintain the natural, cultural and recreational resources of the park.

The planned changes, designed to fulfill the four goals and address practical issues, incorporate the updating or relocating of various park structures, especially the campground. The goal, according to Missouri State Parks, is to maintain the open and shaded character of the campground but also create campsites that are more flood resistant. A new centrally located shower house will be added, and the dump station will be relocated to the north end of the area. Camper cabins will be added to the area as well.

In other parts of the park, visitors can expect to see an extended road on a cleaned-up Scout Island, a new trailhead and boardwalk at the marsh, and a newly constructed multi-purpose building. The swimming pool will remain largely the same due to a current lack of funding, as will the boat ramp, but the park should feature an overall cleaner and more organized look.

Updates on the project will be posted on the Big Lake State Park page of mostateparks.com, and work right now consists of demolishing the damaged facilities. Construction should be completed in two years, but additional funding could allow for more projects. As the development project stands right now, plans are still tentative, but park workers' hopes are high.

Informal News Beat

News, ads, satisfaction

It has been brought to our attention that we may have made a few people upset with some recently submitted news items and advertisements.

First, we appreciate everyone who submits pictures, news items and advertisements. Without you, it would be hard to cover all the news. We try to get to as many events as possible, but we do not have a large staff, and our time is spread thin between the many activities throughout this community and Holt County.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A NEWS ARTICLE AND A PAID ADVERTISEMENT

A news item includes basic information (who, what, when, where, why, etc.). A news item does NOT include poems, personal information, opinions, etc. We do not normally charge for news items. (See policies below.) Normally, if you are charging for the event, then we charge for the advertisement.

An advertisement usually may include any information the advertiser would like. My staff tries its best to explain the difference between an ad and a news item to customers. To someone who isn't familiar with the newspaper business, I can see how this may be confusing. If an advertisement is suspected to have legal repercussions to the newspaper, however, I will have an attorney review the item before publishing.

EDITING SUBMITTED NEWS ITEMS

As our policy states below, I (the publisher) reserve the right to edit, change, re-word, fix spelling, punctuation and grammar to anything that is submitted. I, personally, am held responsible for everything that is published in the Mound City News. I trust my staff in making the above mentioned changes to submitted items, and if they have a question, they come to me. Our news policies are the industry standard.

If our news policies seem unreasonable, customers have two choices:

1. Purchase an advertisement. We will then publish information as presented with the only exception being if the information is knowingly inaccurate, liablist or slanderous.

2. Anyone may purchase the newspaper from me. (It is always for sale.) The new owner may then operate the newspaper however they wish.

Our news writer has a substantial background in journalism. I know that she is more than capable of reporting the news and editing to improve the style and composition of the newspaper. She has been doing a wonderful job so far.

We know, too, that we are not perfect and do not claim to be. We make mistakes from time to time, but try our best not to. Sometimes it is difficult to verify information and name spellings in submitted items, but we will continue to try to do our best.

I have placed our news/submitted items policy box on this page. Please read this if planning to submit news items. We do appreciate the items we receive and reserve the right to edit as deemed necessary.

Again, we appreciate everyone who submits pictures, news items and advertisements.

NOT SATISFIED?

If you happen to be unsatisfied with how we are covering the news and feel it is worthy of discussing in the coffee shop or other gathering of your peers, then you have two, well actually three, options:

1. Continue to complain to your peers. We all live in this great country where free speech is at the center of our freedoms and values.
2. The second option is to discuss your unhappiness with me. This option will probably not render you a satisfactory response, as I already am operating the newspaper the way I believe it should be.
3. Purchase the newspaper business from me and operate it any way you see fit. If this is the option you choose, please call me so we can visit.

So, now I have vented. Any questions? -Adam

Remembering...

“Stills” - Reading in the Mound City News about the missing still from the Holt County Historical Society brought back a few memories of those prohibition days for me and I expect from others, if they are still around from that era. I wasn't very old when some were still in use, making moonshine, as it was called in our community. Even though it was against the law, it went on. Due to whatever reason, traffic started going up through one of our pastures, stopping at a fence on the other side and either met someone or they might have crawled over the fence and walked to where it was being made, for there was a definite path through the timber. It took awhile to find out why our dog was barking so much during the night and then it was shifted to the daytime. I remember Dad never did anything about it and tried to ignore it, I guess until they (whoever it was) left the gate open and some of our cattle got out. Dad put a stop to it all after that. After awhile, it all stopped anyway.

Mom wasn't feeling too well and the doctor suggested she drink one bottle of beer a day to help build her health up. It didn't work for she wouldn't drink any. The doctor then thought if Dad would make some home brew, which was popular back then, she might drink that. As Dad didn't have anything to make it in, much less know how to make it, a group got together and came up with a good mild recipe for her and the equipment needed. Items were brought in, a big stoneware jar, bottles, caps, capping tool, dipper, funnel, etc. The bottles and caps were leftovers from the past moonshine making, in fact, everyone seemed to be excited about it all, except Mom. After it was made, we made a place in a spare room upstairs for the bottled brew to sit and age a few weeks. After awhile we would hear a loud pop when a cap would blow off a bottle and blow brew over things. We moved them to the basement where the popping off of caps continued. We kids thought it was exciting. As Mom wouldn't drink any of it either, Dad had orders to get the rest out of the house. It did smell kind of like a spilled brew all the time.

In the old house on our farm, there was a big pool table that Dad bought one time at a sale and would let a group of neighbors come up at night and use it, when they asked. He told Mom that's how we'd get rid of all the rest of the brew that was left as Dad and my older brother didn't drink. There were quite a few to carry up as needed. Finally, it was all gone, but Dad said maybe we should keep making it for the ones playing pool. They thought it was the best tasting brew they ever had. I'm glad Dad was kidding with Mom, but those guys that came in had a good thing going, a place to shoot pool and free brew.

I was in the service over on Luzon with a guy from Ludlow, Kentucky, and one day he told me about his high school days. His father owned a night club and served, along with legal drinks (I guess some were), good old Kentucky (White Lightning) Moonshine. It had to be brought in from the hill country by fast, souped up autos. The stories he told about his narrow escapes from the "revenue agents" were everyday happenings. He said his dad trusted him to pick it up and bring it to him, as a daily chore, just like us old farm boys had to do our routine chores. I think I might have traded with him, sometimes anyway. He said if he made it through the war, he would go back to doing the same. I don't know if he did or not.

Anyway, I'm not going to make any home brew or moonshine and probably won't drink any beer either, but to me that's okay. If you like it, drink it, just don't leave the pasture gate open.

Oregon Care Center welcomes residents to Serenity Garden

The courtyard at Oregon Care Center in Oregon, MO, has undergone a dramatic makeover from an overgrown field housing a crumbling gazebo to a cheerful, neatly manicured garden with smooth sidewalks, sweetly scented flowers and a bubbling fountain.

"We wanted to get the residents outside," explained Diana Diggs, quality assurance nurse at Oregon Care Center.

Although the weather is taking a turn towards winter, the newly dubbed "Serenity Garden" remains a tranquil facility that can be enjoyed from both outside and inside the Care Center. Flowers, including knockout roses, petunias and hostas, line the Center's walls, and shepherd's hooks hold lanterns. Picnic tables and patio furniture sit strategically in the garden waiting for residents to recline, and plastic tubs, which once held blossoming fruits and vegetables, stand at the ready for spring planting.

The residents are already enjoying the new space, Diggs said, and a few ask to sit outside in the morning while they drink their first cup of coffee. One resident was so thrilled with the new space that she situated herself outside and rolled up her pants to "get her legs suntanned."

The work, however, isn't complete. The Care Center is hoping to add a protective white picket fence to the property and create more shade.

"We still have more to do," Diggs said.
 Funding for the renovation

A blue butterfly decoration - Is just one of the whimsical additions to Oregon Care Center's new Serenity Garden. The garden features cheerful Halloween creatures, as well, though they will soon be replaced with winter holiday-themed ornaments and trimming.

News from Tiffany Heights

The residents at Tiffany Heights in Mound City started out the busy week by making treat bags for Halloween night on Monday, October 28. Many residents enjoy this time of year and love to make the bags. They made around 225 bags for this festive holiday.

Pastor Paul Grant and Barbara Hanlon provided Bible study on Tuesday morning. During the afternoon, residents enjoyed games as they prepared for the upcoming month.

A round of Halloween jingo was played during the afternoon on Wednesday. All the questions and answers were things that involved Halloween. Winners of the games were Dorothy Heck, Dorothy Egbert, Mary Klein, Mary Lou Nauman, Dolores Hawkins and Alois Wilkinson.

Thursday was a wonderfully busy day. The Holt County Head Start students visited the residents during the morning. There were 19 superheroes, princesses, fairies and game personalities parading in the dining room. Dee Ann Heck played the piano before lunch on Thursday morning. Around 130 different characters engulfed the dining room during the afternoon on Thursday. The Mound City R-2 elementary students provided the residents with a preview of the night by dressing in their Halloween finest. Connie Gordon and Ms. Tiffany Heights, Judy Carney, drew a name for the raffle basket. Kim Schoonover was the lucky winner. Also during the afternoon, the residents enjoyed bingo. Volunteers assisting were Denise Acklin, Lucille Stull, Mary Lee Privett, Shirley Jackson, Jean McCall and Barbara Hanlon. Betty Elder was the big winner of the game.

All Saints' Day was Friday. Residents enjoyed playing a game of ring toss during the morning. Winning with skill and/or luck were Mary Klein, Twyla Haer, Lois Woods and Lucille Norman. During the afternoon, the residents had a group of "Did You Know?" This group is held once a month and the residents are asked to recall some well known events by receiving a variety of clues. They also go over those less known birthdays and events that happened during the Northwest Health Services in Mound City has rescheduled the Affordable Care Act enrollment assistance period for Holt County residents. Rather than providing assistance in enrolling in November and December, Northwest Health Services staff will be providing the service beginning in January, 2014. The delay in enrollment assistance is due to glitches in the Affordable Care Act (ACA) Marketplace website.

Affordable Care Act enrollment rescheduled

“At this time, the mandatory sign-up for ACA is March 31, 2014,” said Tina Whiting, certified application counselor (CAC) at Northwest Health Services. “That means there is still plenty of time to sign up, and we are here to answer any questions you might have in the meantime.”

The CACs are trained and certified by the state of Missouri to offer unbiased, accurate information regarding the Affordable Care Act. They are also available to help residents enroll in new healthcare plans. The service they provide is free.

For up-to-date information regarding the rescheduled enrollment assistance sessions, please visit www.nwhealth-services.org.

Guitars have been in place for several months, but some other items have been slower to get their "area" in Brown's Music. The newest addition is pre-recorded Christian music. Initially about 500 titles will be on display (Southern Gospel, Country Gospel, Praise and Worship, Contemporary, Rock and Rap), as well as hundreds of soundtracks also available for singers.

Another 2,000+ older titles are also in stock, but there isn't space enough to display them all. Whether a new guitar or a CD, remember Brown's Music in Mound City as you get ready to do your Christmas shopping. Contact Jim at 660-442-3773.

What do you remember?

The Holt County Historical Society is looking for answers to these questions that have been submitted by researchers.

MOUND CITY METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Mound City United Methodist Church is preparing to celebrate its sesquicentennial in 2014 and is searching for historical information. The photo is the first church building that was located at the corner of 4th and Nebraska streets. The congregation was organized in 1864 with a membership of five. The building was moved to the present location at 7th and Mound and the structure is the back part of the present sanctuary. A handwritten note on the back of the undated old Holt County Historical Society photo says it was "compliments of a former Mound City boy, Frank L. Chambers, Eugene, OR, who left in 1884".

MOUND CITY MEMORIES' CORRECTIONS

A few corrections to an earlier article about Mound City's south State Street businesses between 6th and 7th streets in the 1930s, were sent by Rodney Gibson. Al Arnold's shop was between 6th and 7th streets when Harold Robinson worked for him. After Al died, Robinson moved next to the bowling alley. Ideker's garage and tractor business was on the north side of the alley from Gibson's shop. Behind Gibson's was another blacksmith shop known as Miller's. In the back part of Ideker's shop was Granville White's auto repair. North was where Henry Bickle moved his new restaurant. On the south side of Carter's Store was Bill Bahl's Hardware. Betty Fogg Gilmore, from California, called to share that Zelma Moody owned the beauty shop located there and Mona Bickle worked for her. Looking down the street now, and seeing the changes, it is difficult to imagine how it was then! It was a busy place. Anyone is welcome to come check out this information in the Genealogy Center's Mound City files. The society appreciates former residents sharing their early day memories.

If anyone has any information about any of these items please call 660-442-5949.

This Week's History

From the Mound City News archives

50 Years Ago - 1963

- The Mound City football game to be played would be the last for seniors Rick Moorman, Greg White, Rich Meyer, Steve Thompson, Tom Andler, Gary Moore, Chris Young, and Tom Coates.

- The Mound City Chamber of Commerce purchased a "Welcome Hunters" banner that was placed across State Street.

- In spite of prevailing drouth conditions, ideal water and feed conditions attracted thousands of ducks and geese to Squaw Creek National Wildlife Refuge. Surveys made during the week indicated that 131,000 ducks and 127,000 geese were using the refuge. Canada geese numbers were below normal.

- Bill "Let's Dance" Foster was to present the fabulous "Jesters" rock and roll combo and the singing sensations, "The Emeralds", in a four hour dance and show above the Hy-Klas food store.

- Tammy and the Doctor, starring Sandra Dee and Peter Fonda, was showing at the State Theater.

25 Years Ago - 1988

- A contract was signed between the state and the city of Craig to supply water to Big Lake State Park and eventually Big Lake Village.

- The opening act for the State Theater restoration project was a membership drive. The committee projected the first performance on stage at the theater in about 18 months.

- The Nutrition Site was entertained by the following kitchen helpers in costume: Luetta Burton, Verlene Karsten, Vicki Gillenwater, Marge Wright and Lois Clair.

- Ken Privett joined an elite group of insurance agents by receiving a 35 year plaque for continuous service from the Shelter Insurance Company.

- Everyone worked down to the wire preparing to open Pump & Pantry on schedule. Manager Larry Davis was busy assisting in stocking shelves in the complete convenience store.

- Jack-o-Lanterns were perched on survey sticks along Highway 111 one mile west of Craig. No doubt just a small prank by local farmers on the Missouri State Highway Commission.

10 Years Ago - 2003

- A four-year tax to pay for a four-mile "canal" running from the Missouri River into the north end of Big Lake easily won voter approval. Plans called for installing a pump on the river near the barge terminal and running a ditch from there to the northeast end of the lake.

- Cathy Younger, Shelter Insurance agent in Mound City for about five years, took a job as a freight conductor for Union Pacific Railroad in Kansas City.

- Mound City beat Nodaway-Holt in football at Graham. The Panthers won the conference championship, staying undefeated with one game left.

- Another apparent arson extensively damaged a vacant house in Mound City located at 508 Mound Street. It was the latest in a string of suspicious fires that destroyed a barn, a mobile home, and a car in recent weeks.

- Marilyn Wehrli, elementary language arts specialist at Mound City, was one of 30 area teachers to complete national certification in teaching writing.

Natalie, left, and James Campbell, right - Are new transplants to Mound City, MO. “We’re slowly getting moved in and settled,” said the Laukemper Motors employees. Natalie is 29 weeks pregnant and expecting the couple’s first child.

New employees drive into Laukemper Motors

James and Natalie Campbell, the newest employees at Laukemper Motors in Mound City, MO, are no strangers to the business of selling cars — or to life in a close-knit community.

“We both grew up in small towns,” James said.

The two, who were introduced by their former general manager, have made a career in the car business together. Prior to coming to Mound City, MO, the Campbells worked at Performance Auto Group in Lincoln, NE. Unfortunately, the couple worked conflicting schedules, a challenge that added to their growing desire to take their knowledge to another community.

“We can take the processes we know and meld them with a small-town store,” James said.

With James as the new parts and service director and Natalie as the finance manager, the big city folks with Mound City-like backgrounds feel as if they’re not only making a difference but also coming home.

“It’s exciting to think about moving back to a small town to raise a family,” Natalie said.

The Campbells are slowly settling in, they say, putting down roots by buying and fixing up a home and preparing for the birth of their son. They have yet to name him, but “we’ll know when we see him,” Natalie said.

Until then, they’re keeping busy. James is in a band, and Joe Laukemper, their new employer, is introducing them to the who’s who of Mound City.

“There are a lot of good things to build upon here,” James said.

Rulo bridge scheduled for demolition

The Missouri Department of Conservation and the Nebraska Department of Public Roads will be closing the south entrance to Rush Bottoms Conservation Area (CA) in the coming days to begin the demolition of the Rulo bridge. The bridge, part of Highway 159, spans the gap between Holt County, MO, and Rulo, NE.

The demolition is scheduled to take six months.

During this time, crews will be blowing and removing debris, and the affected entrance will remain closed to all users. Those looking to enter Rush Bottoms may access the area on foot; or by boat from the Missouri River. Parking for foot access is available on County Road 204, north of Rush Bottoms. WATERFOWLERS' HALL OF FAME

Inductees' Brief Biographies

Wayne Voltmer

Wayne Voltmer grew up on the family farm south of Craig, MO, close to both the Missouri River and lots of ducks and geese. He and his brothers, Darrel, Dale and Neal, and sister Karen lived there with their parents Earl and Margaret Voltmer.

The family attended St. Peter's Lutheran Church, where Voltmer was a congregational president, Sunday school superintendent and teacher for a number of years. He was also once the congregation's representative at the Synodical Convention in Philadelphia, PA. After St. Peter's Lutheran Church, originally located in Craig, closed due to flood damage, Voltmer became one of the original members of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Mound City, MO.

Voltmer farmed all of his life. He rented ground south of Craig for a number of years, and he farmed the Ray Todd farm west of Mound City with his father-in-law; he later rented the land. The field that bordered Highway 118 was leased to Stoney and Georgia Stone, owners of the Sportsman's Lodge in Bigelow, MO, for many years. On that farm was a duck lake that Ned Eddy, Dr. Allen Hughes, Dr. Woody York, John Shephard and Billy and Bobby Cadresha used, and Tom and Bernice Chaffee and their family hunted the land. Not long after Voltmer married, he bought a farm west of Big Lake that stood in the flyway between Squaw Creek Refuge and the Missouri River. He enjoyed evenings sitting on the porch swing listening to the honkers fly over or watching them eat in the fields bordering his house. During the winter, for a number of years, Brad Osmondson and his family would travel down from Minnesota to hunt the snows and blues.

Voltmer taught his children the art of gun safety and the thrill of the hunt. Sons Michael and Andy "Bear" still hunt whenever possible. His daughter, Mindi, learned to shoot, but the jury is still out as to whether she can hit anything. The grandchildren, Brook, Stephen and Kevin Voltmer, Ryan Long and Hunter Voltmer are following their fathers' love of hunting, but they are leaning more toward deer hunting (i.e. the bigger target). When Amber, Cailin and Christian Voltmer, Brody Voltmer and Emmie Akers are older, Voltmer is sure they, too, will join the ranks of the other hunters.

Along with Dan and Linda Wagner, John and Karen Ingram and Lynn and Marilyn Thurnau, Voltmer helped organize Mound City's chapter of Ducks Unlimited and worked at seeing it continue for a number of years. Many other wonderful people also helped keep the chapter growing.

Throughout Voltmer's life, he was elected presiding commissioner of Holt County for eight years and participated in Great Northwest Days in Jefferson City, MO. He was a member of the Nebraska Army National Guard for six years during the Vietnam War and was a member of the Legion Post 164 in Craig. Voltmer also served on the Craig R-3 school board, the Bigelow Independent Road District Board, the Holt County Extension Council, the Red Cross Board, the Northwest Health Board of Directors and the Holt County Levee #10 Board. He was a Red Cross Hero and was on the Extension Leaders' Honor Roll, the Farmers Mutual Board, the Northwest Regional Council of Governments, the Economic Development Board and the Northwest Enterprise Facilitation Board. He helped his neighbors at Big Lake after the floods of 2010 and 2011 by removing dirt and hauling in gravel to help make their properties accessible and usable again, and he helped Jason Knowles repair sea walls along the Big Lake properties. Finally, he also sold seed corn and soybean seed. Voltmer passed away Nov. 25, 2012.

Ed White

Ed White is a native Iowan and a retired lineman and supervisor for Iowa Power & Light Electric Company. He is a forever outdoorsman who enjoys hunting, fishing, recreational shooting, winter sports and all professional sports.

White, who has never missed a duck hunting season in Mound City, MO, since 1978, has experienced 35 years of great ducks, great people and friendship and great fun. (This year will be year 36.) He has fond memories of great duck hunting times with Norm Schaeffer, Tony Wolfe and today's contemporaries, and he has special relationships with the many duck hunters who unite one more time for the season.

On sharing some of his greatest hunting moments and memories, White enjoyed time he spent with the young, upcoming duck hunters in the duck blind. He has spent a great deal of time with Wolfe's two sons, Drew and Payton, and grandsons, his nephew, Corky, Kurt Johnsen's two boys and Mound City's young duck hunter Miles Jumps. His conversation and duck blind talk with the young hunters tends to focus on duck hunting rules and etiquette, calling ducks, shooting skills, dog retrieving and downed ducks, discovering the perfect hunting spot and staying low. The biggest thrill, he believes, comes when a young hunter shoots his first duck.

Many meals and fun times were spent at The Klub and at Quackers on Mound City's State Street. For lodging and rest times, Wolfe and White would stay at high fashion/upscale lodge locations, such as the Squaw Creek Truck Stop Motel, Big Lake Cabins, Schaeffer Shack on the Bottom and last, but not least, Heck Garage Apartment. Presently, Tommy Shiflett and White own their own home in Mound City; it's home, it's comfortable, and it's quiet. It can sleep several duck hunters and will always have that early morning smell of fresh bread, coffee and frying bacon and eggs with a side of Mr. Dell's potatoes.

For the past 35 years, Thanksgiving dinner and family time have included an afternoon duck hunt in Mound City. The women of the "great duck hunters" have enjoyed 35 years of post-Thanksgiving shopping in Mound City, Kansas City, MO, Parkville, MO, Weston, MO, Omaha, NE, and Atchison, KS.

In conclusion, it must be said that duck hunting in Mound City was never just for the hunt (despite its importance) but for the friendships that will never be forgotten. White would also like to thank a community of great ducks, great people, great friendships and great times and for the privilege and honor of being selected to join the Waterfowlers' Hall of Fame.

Fred N. Bosilevac, Jr.

Fred N. Bosilevac Jr., a long-time resident of Kansas City, MO, is the son of Dr. Fred N. Bosilevac, who was inducted into the Waterfowlers' Hall of Fame in 1994.

Bosilevac first started hunting ducks in 1956 at his father's duck club, Bigelow Gun Club in northwest Bigelow, MO. That same year, he began hunting geese and bagged his first bird on Bill Keiffer's property south of Mound City, MO.

The Mound City area has been a big part of Fred's life; he has not only enjoyed hunting ducks and geese but has also enjoyed the many local relationships he has developed over the years. He remembers the breakfasts at Kee Cafe, the Saturday night Westerns at the State Theater, the masses on Sunday mornings at St. Patrick's Church in Forest City, MO, buying licorice at Vest's Service Station, visiting George Shaw, learning to drive on "P" road and many other activities and people.

Through the years, Bosilevac has been a member and a guest at many private clubs in both Missouri and Kansas. In 1999 he became a founding member of the Napier Hunt Club located at the southwest tip of Squaw Creek National Wildlife Refuge.

Bosilevac has been a member of Ducks Unlimited since childhood and has served in a variety of capacities for committees throughout his lifetime.

Bosilevac has been a practicing attorney and businessman in the Kansas City area. He will celebrate his thirtieth wedding anniversary with his wife, Sheryl, in December. The couple has a son, Fred Bosilevac III, a resident of Dallas, TX, and a daughter, Lindsey, who lives in Overland Park, KS, with her child, Elise.

Kenny Kieser

Kenneth L. Kieser went on his first hunt in the Squaw Creek region on Nov. 15, 1965, with his grandfather and father. He was 12-years-old but managed to shoot his first geese that day, two mature snows.

Kieser started his outdoor writing career in the late 1970s and has since published several thousand magazine and newspaper articles.

Kieser's passion for goose and duck hunting prompted him to write waterfowl hunting stories for a "Who's Who" of outdoor magazines and for numerous Missouri newspapers, including the St. Joseph News-Press and The Independence/Blue Springs Examiner.

Kieser has featured the Squaw Creek region and hunters from the area in many of his newspaper and national magazine articles. Wildfowl Magazine published his seven-page Mound City Hall of Fame article in August 2010.

Kieser has won over a dozen national writing awards and was inducted into the National Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame as a Legendary Communicator in 2010. He served as president of the Southeastern Outdoor Writer Association in 2010 and has served on the board of directors for the Association of Great Lake Outdoor Writers and the Outdoor Writers' Association of America.

Children's fishing and hunting programs have been one of Kieser's specialties. The National Freshwater Fish Hall of Fame recently started his kids' fishing and writing competition, a program designed to bring children to the sport. His fishing programs for mentally and physically challenged children have been conducted nationwide, and he has written volumes on the subject. The Kansas City Royals honored Kieser's work by allowing him to sit in the Buck O'Neil Legacy Seat on August 2, 2011.

Kieser's first Western novel, Ride the Trail of Death, was published by La Frontera Publishing in September 2007 and made several bestseller lists. It went to second print after just six months. His second novel, Black Moon's Revenge, was released in early October 2009 and is selling well. Both novels are sold in all major bookstores and online.

Kieser's most recent book, Missouri's Great Flood of '93 — Revisiting an Epic Natural Disaster, was released by Northeast News in June 2013 with over 80 of Kieser's photos from the flood. He has written about hunting a variety of birds, including: eider ducks eight miles off the coast of Rhode Island on the Atlantic Ocean; tundra swans in the Carolinas; sea ducks and brant in the Chesapeake Bay region; geese in Oregon; and ducks in Louisiana and Mississippi. He has also written numerous stories about hunting his home court, the Squaw Creek region and surrounding states.

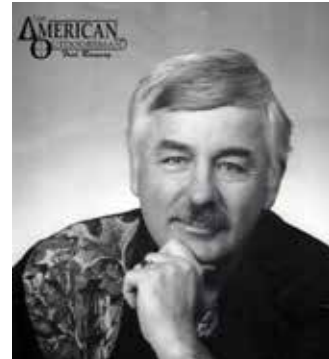

In 2013 Kieser won "Story of the Year" with "Men of the Market," a story on Maryland's waterfowl market hunters from 1870 through 1920, over magazine, newspaper and electronic submissions from the Association of Great Lakes Outdoor Writers. More than 3,000 entries were from professional writers.

Fred Ramsay

Fred Ramsay was born Feb. 28, 1951, and grew up in Orgeon, MO. He graduated from South Holt High School and went to work for the Burlington Northern Railroad. He worked there for 10 years before leaving to be a manufacturing representative and seminar speaker at the Pro Line Archery Company. His love of and ability with the bow and arrow led him to make the switch in employers.

Around 1986 Ramsay was approached to host an outdoor radio show on KFEQ, which is still on the air after 27 years. During this time, he hosted a syndicated radio show in nine states that introduced new guns for Remington Arms Company. He also started producing and hosting his own television show, "The American Outdoorsman." It aired in St. Joseph, MO, Topeka, KS, and Springfield, MO, for two years. The show then moved to the Outdoor Channel, which ran coast to coast for 10 years. Thanks to the television and radio shows, Ramsay was able to hunt and fish with many celebrities and friends, always bringing them to Northwest Missouri and the Squaw Creek Refuge. His love for waterfowl hunting has never waned, and he will always be a true waterfowler.

Letter to veterans/military personnel

To Veterans and Active Military Personnel,
We all sacrificed part of our lives, while some lost theirs to enable our country to have freedom of speech, fly our flag and have religious preference.
We need to reflect on those sacrifices, attend church the Sunday before Veterans' Day and fly that flag on Monday, Nov. 11.

Gene Poynter

Larry Kurtz goes into the wild blue yonder of memories

Larry Kurtz's enrollment in the military was somewhat serendipitous: then a young college graduate, Kurtz went on the requisite number of job interviews, but at each one, he was asked about his (heretofore non-existent) military service; feeling he needed to rectify the situation, and find a job, Kurtz joined the Air Force.

"As it turned out, after I got in, I liked it," Kurtz said. "I stayed in."

So he did — for 20 years.

Kurtz first joined the military in 1967. During his two decades on active duty, Kurtz performed personnel work as a lieutenant colonel (5) and was stationed around the world. He's "been in about every state," and he spent time in Thailand, Germany and Iran.

"[Being in the service] gave us exposure to a lot of cultures, something I think everybody should see," Kurtz said. "It gives you an appreciation for the U.S."

His years of experiences had their share of ups and downs ("we had some scares"), but the connections he made and the people he met made the Air Force worthwhile.

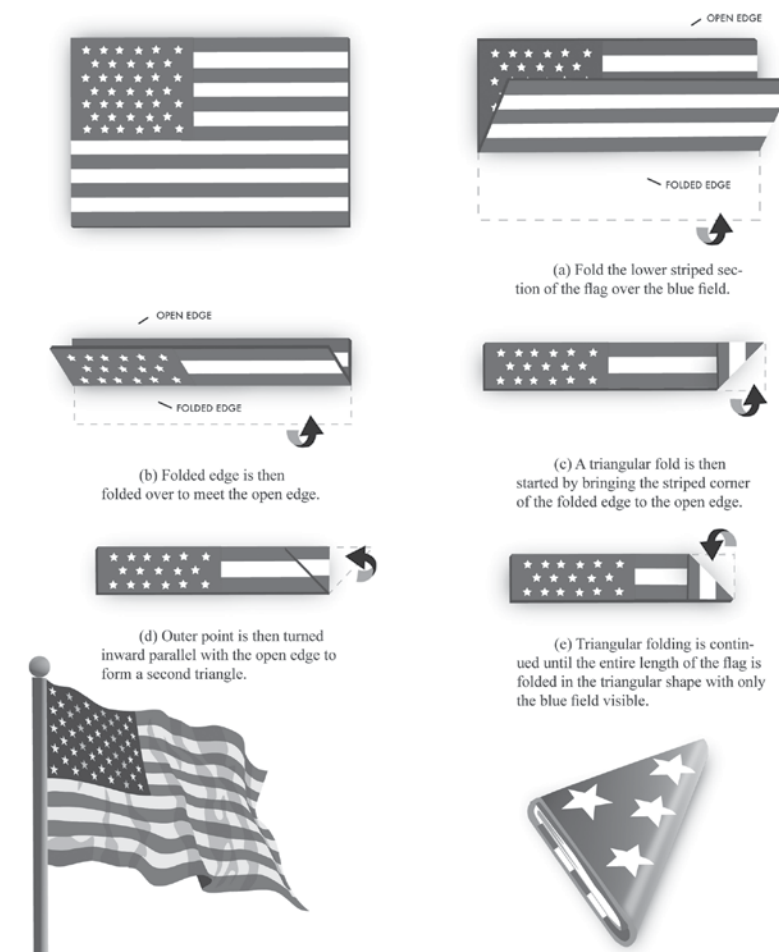

"I had an NCO (non-commissioned officer) who took me under his wing," Kurtz related. "I was smart enough to listen to him."

While in Germany, Kurtz also made good friends with a German man, one who flew to San Antonio, TX, just to see Kurtz's retirement ceremony.

"He was a special man," Kurtz said, "He passed away in 1999. I went to the funeral [in Germany]."

Now Kurtz, a resident of Oregon, MO, looks back on his time with mostly fond memories. When asked what his family thought about his service, he said simply, "They were proud."

Fred Kling salutes the U.S. Air Force

Until Fred Kling joined the Air Force as an 18-year-old fresh out of high school, his world had remained relatively small and familiar. Kling, from Barnard, MO, had hardly traveled out of Nodaway County, much less the state. In January 1951, however, he, along with two buddies, marched down to a recruiter's office and signed up.

"There were three of us that decided to go into the Air Force," Kling began.

Kling, as far as he knew, had passed the physical and mental tests with his friends, and the trio would shortly start their military journey. When an officer called Kling's friends' names, however, Kling found himself alone; he was the only one to pass muster. Baffled — and perhaps a touch scared — Kling wasn't sure, at first, whether or not he should go with his pals.

"[But] I said no. I'd gone this far."

Shortly after his admittance, Kling boarded a train bound for Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, TX. Along the lengthy journey from Kansas City, MO, to basic training, Kling could hear "what the devil did I do" in syncopation with the car's clattering wheels.

"I didn't know anybody in Texas," he said. "They asked me a couple of times if I wanted to back out."

The Air Force had accepted so many men, Kling discovered, that the barracks were full; he was ordered to sleep in a tent.

"There was such a big rush to get into the Air Force," Kling explained. "[It was so crowded] that by gosh darn, I got a needle in one arm... and by gosh darn, I got one in the other arm."

Despite the uncomfortable conditions, Kling kept his head down and focused on being a soldier. And wouldn't you know, he said, not a few months later but his buddies from Barnard walked into the mess hall as brand new recruits.

While Kling was overjoyed to see his friends, the Air Force had other plans for him. As an in-flight refuel specialist, Kling was needed in high-trafficked vital areas to help fuel big bombers while they were still in the air. Sometime during his five years in the service, Kling was transferred first to England, then to what was French Morocco. It was there that Kling had one of his most unusual experiences.

"We've got a job for you," his commander at the refueling station said.

An airplane coming back from a run had exhausted its fuel supply after the navigator neglected to check the tank level. The plane's passengers had bailed in the night, some of them parachuting for the first time.

"They wanted me to go check it out."

Kling wasn't sure what he would find, considering the plane was assumed to have crashed. But lo and behold, he said, he came across a plane that, from the front, looked practically untouched. Rather than dropping from the sky like a stone, the plane, graceful as a feather, had glided down to land gently on the ground.

"If the guys had stayed in it," Kling said amusedly, "they would've been fine, maybe a little shaken up."

Kling was discharged from the military in December 1955, but he says of his time, "It was tremendous. One of the best things I ever did was go into the service."

On Veterans' Day, honor those who served and sacrificed

The Missouri Veterans' Commission is asking all Missourians on Veterans' Day to thank and honor veterans and active duty military for their service and sacrifice for the nation.

Veterans' Day is a day to celebrate those who have ensured the country, the people, and everyone's freedom and way of life endures. Remember those who stood in harm's way for freedom are never free, and their dedication and sacrifice should never be forgotten.

"We owe a debt of gratitude to those who gave of their time and lives so we could live free," said Missouri Veterans' Commission Executive Director Larry D. Kay. "Veterans' Day honors veterans, active duty military and their families by remembering what they did and what they stood for."

The Missouri Veterans' Commission, a state agency, operates seven State Veterans' Homes, five State Veterans' Cemeteries and the Veterans' Service Program. The Commission is committed to honoring and serving Missouri's veterans whose dedication and sacrifices have preserved the nation and its freedoms.

Soldiers guarding the Tomb of the Unknowns during a rain storm.

Tomb of the Unknowns

On March 4, 1921, Congress approved a resolution providing for the burial of an unidentified American soldier, following the custom adopted by other allied countries after World War I. The site was to be the plaza of Arlington National Cemetery's Memorial Amphitheater, which had been dedicated the previous year.

On Memorial Day, 1921, an unknown was exhumed from each of four cemeteries in France. The remains were placed in identical caskets and assembled at Chalon sur Marne.

On October 24, Army Sergeant Edward F. Younger, wounded in combat and highly decorated for valor, selected the unknown soldier for World War I by placing a spray of white roses on one of the caskets. Those remaining were interred in the Meuse Argonne Cemetery, France. The Unknown Soldier then returned home to the U.S. to lie in state in the Capitol Rotunda until Armistice Day. On November 11, 1921, President Warren G. Harding officiated at the interment ceremonies at the Amphitheater.

The monument, which rests on top of the Unknown grave, is a sarcophagus simple, but impressive, in its dimensions. Its austere, flat-faced form is relieved at the corners and along the sides by neo-classic pilasters, or columns, set unto the surface.

Sculpted into the panel, which faces Washington, are the three figures of Valor, Victory, and Peace. On the plaza face the words "Here Rests in Honored Glory An American Soldier Known But To God".

On August 3, 1956, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed a bill to select and pay tribute to the Unknown Soldiers of World War II and Korea on Memorial Day, 1958. The World War II Unknown was selected from 19 remains exhumed from military cemeteries in Hawaii, Europe, and the Philippines.

Two Unknowns from World War II, one from the European Theatre and one from the Pacific Theatre, were placed in identical caskets and taken aboard the U.S.S. Canberra, a guided missile cruiser resting off the Virginia capes. Hospital Man First Class William R. Charette, then the Navy's only active duty Medal of Honor recipient, selected the Unknown Soldier of World War II. The remaining casket received a burial at sea.

Four unknown Americans who had lost their lives in Korea were disinterred from the National Cemetery of the Pacific in Hawaii. Master Sergeant Ned Lyle, U.S. Army, made the final selection. Both the caskets arrived in Washington on May 28, 1958, where they lay in the Capital Rotunda until May 30. That morning they were carried on caissons to Arlington National Cemetery. President Eisenhower awarded each the Medal of Honor and the Unknowns were interred in the Plaza beside their comrade of World War I.

Twenty-six years later, on Memorial Day, May 28, 1984, after a search made difficult because of advances in technologies used to identify the remains of unknown soldiers, President Ronald Reagan presided over the interment ceremony for the Vietnam Unknown service member. Like his predecessors, he was laid to rest in the plaza of the Tomb during a ceremony that received national coverage.

The Sentinels of the Tomb

Originally, a civilian watchman was responsible for the security of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Then, on March 24, 1926, a military guard from the Washington Provisional Brigade (forerunner of the U.S. Army Military District of Washington) was established during the daylight hours. In 1948, the 3rd U.S. Infantry, "The Old Guard", assumed the post following the unit's reactivation in the nation's capital. Members of the 3rd Infantry's Honor Guard continue to serve in this distinguished duty today.

A soldier seeking the honor of serving as a sentinel at the Tomb must possess exemplary qualities, to include American citizenship, a spotless record, and impeccable military bearing.

While on duty, the sentinel crosses a 63-foot rubber surfaced walkway in exactly 21 steps. He then faces the Tomb for 21 seconds, turns again, and pauses an additional 21 seconds before retracing his steps. The 21 is symbolic of the highest salute accorded to dignitaries in military and state ceremonies.

As a gesture against intrusion on their post, the sentinel always bears his weapon away from the Tomb. Only under exceptional circumstances may the guard speak or alter his silent, measured tour of duty.

He will issue a warning if anyone attempts to enter the restricted area around the Tomb, but first will halt and bring his rifle to port arms.

The Guard wears the Army Dress Blue Uniform, reminiscent of the color and style worn by soldiers during the late 1800's. Tomb Guards are privileged to wear the Tomb Identification Badge on the right breast pocket. The design is an inverted open laurel wreath surrounding a representation of the front elevation of the Tomb. The words "Honor Guard" are engraved at the base of the badge. A guard leaving after at least nine months of service is entitled to wear the badge as a permanent part of the uniform.

KCP&L: Warm up for winter, save your pennies

As the winter season approaches, Kansas City Power and Light (KCP&L) is offering financial assistance to help mitigate high energy bills. Starting Friday, Nov. 1, Missouri residents are free to enroll in the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LI-HEAP), a federally funded program that helps eligible households pay energy bills during the coldest months of the year.

“We understand some of our customers may be experiencing financial difficulties, causing them to fall behind on their electric bills,” said Lori Shaffer, senior manager of KCP&L Customer and Community Affairs. “We want to reach out to those customers and work with them to find payment solutions and, if possible, connect them to local agency funding programs.”

The “Cold Weather Rule” goes into effect in Missouri on Nov. 1. In addition to preventing disconnections during the winter, the rule also provides a 12-month payment plan for those customers in need. KCP&L offers other energy assistance programs, which are available on its website.

“It’s important to us that we partner with our customers during these trying times and help them avoid service disconnections,” Shaffer said. “Keeping them informed about available assistance funding is one of the ways we can help.”

Customers can also help those who have fallen behind in their bills by giving an “Energy Gift,” which helps pay off an overdue balance. Anyone is able to purchase a gift. Visit www.kcpl.com for more information.

Mound City Lady Panthers clinch District 16 volleyball title

End season with state sectional loss to Midway

The Mound City Lady Panthers entered the Missouri State High School District 16 volleyball tournament with a record of 23 wins and five losses. The tournament reaped two more wins and a district championship title for the Lady Panther team.

On Monday, October 28, tournament action got underway in Tarkio, MO. The South Holt Lady Knights defeated Craig/Fairfax (CFX) in two games. (South Holt's statistics from the match appeared in last week's edition.) Also on October 28, Rock Port defeated West Nodaway and Tarkio defeated Nodaway-Holt.

On Wednesday, October 30, Mound City, who had a bye in the first round, met South Holt in a 5 p.m. match. The Lady Panthers of Mound City won the match over the South Holt Lady Knights in two games. At 6:15 p.m., Tarkio defeated Rock Port in a close, three-game match, which then pitted Mound City against Tarkio in the championship match. The first game of the match was very close, with the Lady Panthers just edging out the Tarkio Lady Indians by a score of 32-30. During the second and final game of the match, the Lady Indians ran out of steam and lost the district title to Mound City by a score of 25-11. "I was so proud of the way the girls came from behind in the first game of the match with Tarkio to finish the contest in two," said Mound City Head Coach Kayla Schoonover.

Mound City advanced to state sectional action on Saturday, November 2, in Mound City. The Lady Panthers met the Midway Lady Vikings of Cleveland, MO, at 4:30 p.m., after Santa Fe defeated Orrick in a 3 p.m. match at Mound City. The two games of the Mound City/Midway match were close, but the Lady Panthers fell to the Lady Vikings by game scores of 26-24 and 25-20.

Coach Schoonover had this to say, "We had a great season and it was a pleasure coaching this group of young ladies. I am so proud of them. Their accomplishments include being 275 Conference champions, District 16 champions, and attaining most wins in a season for Mound City with 26 including an 18 match winning streak. They have a lot to be proud of. The girls did a great job."

Midway then met Santa Fe in state quarterfinal action at Mound City at 6 p.m. on November 2. Santa Fe won the match in two games and advanced to state semifinal action with Leopold at the Show-Me Center in Cape Girardeau, MO, on Friday, November 8. Other teams making it to the state tournament include Winona and Osceola. The final matches of the state championships will be played on Saturday, November 9, at the Show-Me Center in Cape Girardeau.

Senior Lady Panther, Shaylin Miller - Keeps the ball in play for Mound City during the state sectional match with Midway. The Lady Panthers lost the match, 26-24 and 25-20.

Be cautious of deer near highways this fall

If one were to pick the Missouri city where they are most likely to strike a deer with a car, would it be Kansas City, MO? Maybe Lees Summit, MO? These cities ranked first and second in 2011 for deer-vehicle collisions in Missouri.

Deer-vehicle collisions on Missouri highways increase each fall when bucks become more active and weather turns colder. A recent insurance survey now places Missouri among the highest states in deer-vehicle crashes. Some 3,980 collisions with deer occurred last year on Missouri's highways, resulting in five fatalities and 411 injuries.

Although some accidents with deer are unavoidable, motorists can take extra precautions to reduce the chance of striking these agile, but unpredictable animals. First, be aware that deer are coming out of the wooded areas to reach clearings now. Bucks are seeking mates and aggressively establishing their territories, challenging other bucks. Does are leaving their pro-maturing fawns, beginning the process of separation; and farmers are harvesting corn and beans, which drives deer from natural cover into open areas like highways.

Be prepared for deer to cross or dart into a road at any time, particularly around dusk and dawn. Most (85%) of deer strike crashes occur from 5 p.m. to 6:49 a.m. To increase long-distance visibility, use high beams if other cars aren't approaching. If encountering a deer, don't sound the horn, but slow down or stop until the animal passes. If seeing one, others may be right behind. Swerving may only place the vehicle in the path of the veering animal or another deer or two coming right behind the first. Motorists may also lose control and cause more harm and damage than colliding with the deer. Finally, remember to stay alert, slow down and buckle up. Most people injured in deer-vehicle collisions weren't wearing a seat belt.

Deer crossing signs are posted in areas where collisions or sightings occur frequently, but deer are unpredictable. If one should hit a deer, report the accident to the local sheriff's office, the Missouri Highway Patrol or municipal police. Don't approach an injured or frightened deer because their sharp, hard hooves can seriously injure or kill. The Missouri Department of Transportation's (MoDOT's) maintenance crews will remove dead animals as quickly as they can get to them.

We go to school to get smART

By Sara Murphy

Mrs. Cate Kenny's high school art classes are featured this week for "Class of the Week."

Mrs. Kenny received her education through Northwest Missouri State University. She is certified to teach kindergarten through twelfth grade. The two classes in high school she teaches are Visual Art and Design. Her classes are working on murals for the dentist's office here in Mound City and 3-Point perspective drawings. Mrs. Kenny commented, "My favorite class to teach is Drawing because all the kids like to draw. It is fun to watch them get better and better every year." Her favorite moment working at Mound City R-2 High School would be the year she had chemotherapy, the students designed a t-shirt for her.

Question of the week

By Jennifer Thomas

Question: Who is your favorite superhero? Why?

Emily Thomas, Eleventh Grade: "My favorite hero is 'The Doctor' from Doctor Who because he travels through space and time and saves the human race, and other races, almost all the time."

Adrienne Messer, Ninth Grade: "Batman, because he doesn't need something like a chemical reaction to be awesome, he just is."

Baileyann Hollis, Fifth Grade: "My favorite superhero is Cat Woman because she is a superhero with a bad reputation."

Riley Lewis, Third Grade: "My family is my hero because members take care of me and they all keep me safe."

Keaton Zembles, Second Grade: "Wolverine, because he has claws."

In 1952, Lena Buckles, Judy Smith, G. L. Rockwell and Deloris Messick ended the year with perfect attendance.

In 1958, Martha Travis was crowned football queen.

In 1964, Donald Ashford rocked the judges at the state choir contest and received a I rating for his vocal solo.

Thomas Shifflett is the son of Russ and Beverly Shifflett, and has two brothers, Ben and Blake. Thomas' hobbies include trapping, hunting, and mowing. His favorite book is Where the Red Fern Grows, his favorite kind of food is Italian, and his favorite class is Business Technology with Mrs. Nichole Hux.

Thomas' best high school memory is beating Rock Port in football this year. When asked where he would go if he could travel anywhere, he says he would like to go to Alaska on a hunting trip with his dad. After high school, he plans to go to Northwest and become a Highway Patrolman in the future.

The Nodaway-Holt Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) engaged in a month of safe driving activities and seminars to spur students to put down their cell phones and avoid alcohol while behind the wheel. The “distractive driving” project was part of the Families Acting for Community Traffic Safety (F.A.C.T.S.) program. FCCLA second vice-president Brandon Newton led all of the events.

Starting on Wednesday, Oct. 2, Newton, as well as chapter co-presidents Darcie Gallagher and Maggie Furhman, launched their safe-driving educational campaign by recording short informational messages on teen driving statistics at the local radio station. Their spots aired throughout the weekly broadcasts.

To continue their community outreach, FCCLA members set up a safe-driving pledge at a home football game against Rock Port on Friday, Oct. 11. The group passed out fliers on statistics and held a drawing for a "car care kit." They later placed a "PLS DNT TXT AND DRV” sign in the Nodaway-Holt school yard.

Towards the end of October, FCCLA safe-driving advocates focused their attention on students. During the week of Oct. 21 through 29, members greeted students at the school door with handouts and free gifts related to distractive driving, drinking and driving, seat belt usage and speeding. Finally, on Wednesday, Oct. 30, Officer Vickers from the Nodaway County Sheriff's Office spoke to students about the importance of limiting distractions. An AT&T representative also provided a computer driving simulation intended to expose students to the harm of driving while distracted as part of the "It Can Wait" campaign.

To conclude the project, 10 members of the student body wore black shirts and painted their faces to represent the 10 teens that are killed every year in vehicle-related accidents in Missouri. All Nodaway-Holt students that participated in the activities throughout the day were treated with ice cream sandwiches for "arriving alive."

The Nodaway-Holt Trojans hosted Craig/Fairfax (CFX) on Friday, November 1, 2013. Nodaway-Holt dominated both sides of the ball and came out on top 66-28.

The injury plagued Nodaway-Holt team has relied on its young players to make the transition into starters. "I thought our freshmen did a great job stepping up this week and handled their starting roles well. Offensively, we had a great running game with Zach Walker coming through with a break-out performance. Our offensive line controlled the line of scrimmage, which allowed for our running backs to hit the holes that were made for them," Nodaway-Holt Coach Josh Petersen commented.

The Trojans advance to the second round of the Missouri 8-Man Playoffs this Friday, November 8. Nodaway-Holt will travel to Stanberry, MO, to take on the undefeated Bulldogs. “Hopefully this momentum carries over to this week. Stanberry has a good squad,” Petersen added. Game time on Friday is 7:00 p.m.

Lady Panthers advance to state cross country meet with second place finish at districts

Kendey Eaton is district champion

The Mound City Lady Panthers are on their way to the Missouri State High School Class 1 cross country championships with a second place team finish at the District 8 meet held in Rock Port, MO, on Saturday, November 2. Members of the top two qualifying teams advance to the state meet as well as the top 15 runners from the district competition.

The girls' team from DeKalb won the District 8 title with Mound City placing second and North Platte third. Mound City sophomore, Kendey Eaton, was the girls' district champion with a first place time of 21:43. Other second place team members from Mound City heading to the state meet include senior, Lily Grant; freshman, Joeigh Eaton; senior, Janine Bludau; sophomore, Jessica Johnson; and sophomore, Mae Sanders.

Mound City Coach Ken Eaton said, "The district race was close for the team. Our runners had to work together to stay ahead of North Platte, who placed third. The excitement of the state meet should encourage the girls to run their best times of the season."

Words cannot adequately express our appreciation to all those who have cared for us these past couple of weeks during the decline and passing of our husband, father and grandfather, Ken Privett. The meals, flowers, visits, hugs and especially the prayers have all confirmed to us that Mound City is a wonderful place to live!

Sincerely,
Mary Lee Privett, Susan Leaffy and family, and Janet Richards and family

A very large and grateful THANK YOU to all who made my 80th birthday a success, to my children and grandchildren who hosted the event and all the friends who came by to share time and well wishes for many more birthdays. I was especially appreciative of the distance some drove to take part in this special occasion. The only regret is that I couldn't spend more time with each and everyone in attendance. I also want all those who sent cards and notes, some beautiful, some funny, to know how much they were appreciated and I enjoyed each one. Most of all I thank my Heavenly Father for these 80 years and the blessings that have been in them. God bless our community and our nation.

Maurice (Smitty) Smith

Chris Tubbs, with the help of his brother, Brian, and Nebraska-based Ensor Movers, Inc. - Moved the former Tubbs' house from just west of Big Lake, MO, to its new residence one mile outside of Mound City, MO, on Highway 59. Although the house hadn't been touched by floodwaters, the Tubbs brothers worried it might get damaged in its Big Lake spot, so they arranged for the three-hour move that took place on Thursday, Oct. 31.

On this day and every day, let us remember and honor our veterans.
