Open Season Gun Shop opens in Mound City

Open Season Gun Shop has officially opened its doors for business in Mound City. The new gun shop is located at 215 Walnut Street, which is marked by signs directly behind Hiawatha Implement in Mound City. The new gun shop is open Wednesday through Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Mound City residents Russ Shifflett and Justin Courtney are the co-owners of the business.

Russ and Justin, both firearm enthusiasts as well as avid hunters and target shooters, became friends in the stands at Mound City football games a couple of years ago. As they talked, both thought it odd that, with Mound City being a historic hunting town, there was not a gun shop in town. Discussion became serious in the summer of 2012, and the plan evolved for the two to join forces and operate a classic small town gun shop. In discussing a name for the shop, Justin threw out the name, Open Season Gun Shop. The name stuck and the business was born.

The new gun shop will handle hunting firearms, handguns and ammunitions. It will also offer scopes and mounts, as well as gun cleaning and gun repair. Open Season will buy, sell and trade firearms. The shop will offer a layaway program and will do state-to-state transfers.

With the fear from the Sandy Hook shooting, and talk across the United States of gun bans and more restrictive gun laws, it was more than a bit difficult to set up this new business venture. Firearm and ammunition sales have been very high as a result, and it has been difficult to get supplies from the distributors.

"There has probably not been a more difficult point in time to set up a new gun shop," stated Russ Shifflett. "The demand for firearms right now is very high, and replacing inventory is definitely more challenging."

In the near future, the gun shop owners plan to add retail archery supplies, fishing supplies and ammo reloading supplies. Justin and Russ also plan to relocate the gun shop to State Street in the near future as opportunities allow. The gun shop can be reached by calling 660-442-3252.

Thieves still on the prowl

According to recent reports to the Holt County Sheriff's Office, there are apparently thieves still working in and around the Holt County area. Several calls have been made to the office since the first of the year.

Reports throughout the county have indicated the thieves have taken chickens, gas, copper, batteries and tools. So far, leads in the cases have not resulted in arrests.

"People should write down and report suspicious activity," commented Sheriff Scott Wedlock on the matter. "One may forget what they saw and it could be just the clue needed to apprehend the suspects."

Benefit to support local youth hunt

A tribute benefit in honor of the late Shawn Eldredge, 'the Goose Guru', has been planned by a host of friends, in a localized effort to not only remember Shawn, but to remember and promote the sport he loved so much. The 1st Annual Goose Fest- Goose Guru Memorial will be held on Saturday, March 2, at The Klub in Mound City, beginning at 5:30 p.m. with a social hour.

'Goose Guru' to be honored

Following the social hour, a buffet dinner will be served from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. A 'remembering the "Guru"' raffle and auction will take place from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The band, Swift Kik, will follow the raffle and auction.

The decision, by a few, to start this honorary event has had astounding support locally. Local hunters have spoken with associates and garnered additional support. Many quality items have been donated for the auction. All proceeds from the auction will be given to the Missouri Conservation Heritage Foundation (a non-profit), and earmarked for the Big Muddy Duck Hunt near Mound City.

The Big Muddy Duck Hunt saw its inaugural year in 2012, when local conservation agents, Russ Shifflett, Jade Wright and Anthony Maupin, spearheaded the event that drew 15 youth and their military parents to the duck blinds of Holt County. It is hoped to expand the hunt to 30 youth in 2013.

Youth hunters made up a cause very dear to Shawn. Shawn was the owner/operator of Prairie's Edge Guide Service, where he combined his love of hunting and conservation. He respected the land and cared deeply about the legacy of the sport, even offering free guide services to young adults. He was an expert caller and won many goose and turkey calling contests. His tag line was: "When we call, the birds fall". Over the years, he was featured in national magazines and television shows, and was the subject of many newspaper articles across Iowa, Missouri and Minnesota.

The cost of the March 2 event is $25 per person, which includes entry, buffet meal, auction opportunities and entertainment. A $10 cover charge will be assessed for those wishing to take part in just the entertainment. Plans are already being made to make the 2013 Goose Fest a multi-day event, which would include youth clinics encompassing field dressing, duck/goose calling, gun safety, a sanctioned calling contest and much more.

The event sponsors include: The Klub, Open Season Gun Shop, Bushnell, Final Approach and STM Duck Calls. Anyone wishing to volunteer or donate to the event can contact Jonathan Miller at 660-442-5797.

Have you heard what cardiologists are saying about CH-F's cardiac services?

What are Community Hospital-Fairfax's (CH-F's), MO, cardiologists saying about the hospital's Cardiac Clinic and Cardiac Rehab Program?

Ryan Whitney, M.D. calls CH-F's Cardiac Rehab Program a "key component" to his patients' successful recovery and Robert Hibbard, M.D., says that the hospital's "full array of diagnostic procedures and rehabilitation programs is unique and gives patients an advantage."

During February, the community has probably heard a lot of people talking about heart health awareness. Thanks to over 40 businesses and organizations, including all of the area schools wearing red in honor of Have A Heart, Wear Red Campaign, the community has probably seen a lot of red this month as well.

But why is it so important to remind each other about heart health? The reasons are endless, but most importantly, it is to educate each other that heart disease is the number one cause of death in adults, second only to cancer.

The CH-F "Wear Red" campaign reminds people to take care of their heart. Resisting or quitting smoking, getting regular blood pressure and cholesterol checks, knowing family history, exercising and eating a heart healthy diet are just a few ways that can help the heart be healthy. If a person should need medical care, however, CH-F wants to remind them that the Cardiac Rehab team and Cardiac Clinic are here for them.

CH-F's cardiologists, Ryan Whitney, M.D., Scott Coatsworth, M.D., and Robert Hibbard, M.D., have many recommendations about the services available at Community Hospital-Fairfax.

"CH-F offers onsite cardiac rehabilitation, which is key component to the road back to a healthy heart. People who participate in and complete the cardiac rehabilitation program have better outcomes than those who don't participate in a program. In other words, cardiac rehabilitation participants have fewer heart attacks and live longer than heart patients that choose not to complete the program. CH-F has a very active cardiac rehabilitation program to help along the road to recovery," said Cardiologist Dr. Ryan Whitney, who sees patients at CH-F on Tuesdays each month.

Take care of the heart by visiting with a doctor about heart health and the services available through Community Hospital-Fairfax's Cardiac Clinic and Cardiac Rehab. For more information, call CH-F Outpatient services at 660-686-2335.

Master gardener classes planned for northwest Missouri

To become a master gardener, one doesn't have to be an expert gardener. All that is required is an interest in gardening and a desire to serve the community using gardening skills. Master gardeners include adults of all ages who come from a wide variety of backgrounds. Some have extensive knowledge, and others come ready to learn. They all have two traits in common, however: a love of gardening and a desire to help others.

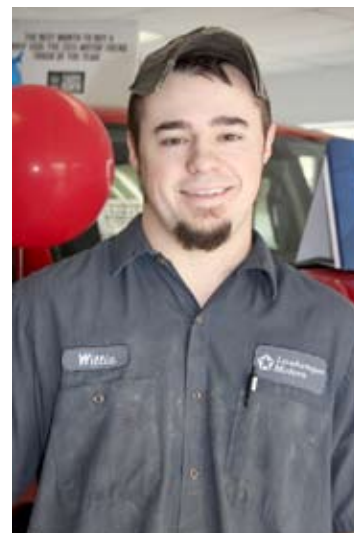

After an introductory class, master gardeners are taught about all aspects of gardening. Topics include plant growth, soils, diseases, insects, fruits, vegetables, flowers, trees, and many others. Following graduation, master gardeners are required to fulfill 30 hours of volunteer service to the community within the following year. Volunteer service can include many types of projects including community beautification, teaching gardening knowledge through speaking or writing, youth gardening, working with the elderly, etc.

On Thursday, March 7, University of Missouri Extension will be starting a series of training classes. For 12 weeks, adults will meet on Thursday evenings, from 6 to 9 p.m., at several locations around northwest Missouri. Classes will be taught by on site presenters and/or via web conferencing software.

Some tentative locations for classes include Gallatin, Maryville, Plattsburg, St. Joseph, and Trenton, all in Missouri. The selection of final sites will depend on the number of applications received for each site.

Master gardeners receive a USB flash drive of class topics from University of Missouri Extension. For more information about master gardening and a registration form, please call Tom Fowler in St. Joseph at 816-279-1691, or Tim Baker in Gallatin at 660-663-3232. The deadline for registration is Friday, March 1. Adults may also register and find more information on the web site at: <http://extension.missouri.edu/nwregion/hort/>. University of Missouri Extension programs are open to all.

Lentz published in physicians' journal

Susan Lentz, RN, BSN, now in her 29th year as school nurse in the Holt County schools of Craig, Mound City and Oregon, recently had an article she had written published in the Missouri Academy of Family Physicians (MAFP) publication. The article was written in conjunction with the 25th anniversary of Tar Wars education, a cause Susan has been an advocate for. The article entitled, "Why do I teach Tar Wars?", appeared in the first quarter (January-March, 2013) publication of the MAFP magazine.

Susan was asked in May to write an article on why she continues to teach Tar Wars. In the article, Susan stated, "I am always in prevention mode. Two of my passions are teaching our students how to take care of their teeth and encouraging them to be tobacco free."

When Susan teaches tobacco education using the Tar Wars curriculum to her 5th grade students, she appeals to a host of age appropriate issues. These components of the program include: the cost of tobacco (what they could buy instead), short term effects (how it will affect them in 10 years), Why smoke? (misconceptions), and advertising (understanding the untruths).

Susan does not recall when she began using the curriculum, but cites 1998 as an earmarked year. It was the first year that she had a state poster winner. Over the years, other students have placed in the contests, including the latest, 2012 poster contest winner, Jamison Liles. A picture of Jamison, his Craig, MO, 5th/6th grade teacher, Carolyn Pyeatt, and Susan was included in the article.

"Delivering this message, and getting the students to participate is a team approach," stated Susan. "The classroom teachers, the art teachers and myself are involved in the process at each of the three schools I teach the curriculum at. If I keep one student from using tobacco, it was definitely time well spent."

Local fire marshal completes international professional designation process

Fire Marshal Ken Newcomb of the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) has successfully completed the process and was awarded the professional designation of "Chief Training Officer" (CTO). The Commission on Professional Credentialing (CPC) met on December 27, 2012, to officially confer the designation upon Fire Marshal Newcomb, who is one of only 22 CTO's worldwide.

The CPC awards the CTO designation only after an individual successfully meets all of the organization's stringent criteria. The process includes an assessment of the applicant's education, experience, professional development, technical competencies, contributions to the profession and community involvement.

Fire Marshal Newcomb has a rich knowledge of the emergency services profession and has far surpassed critical core competencies for personnel serving in senior fire officer positions.

Fire Marshal Newcomb has been employed at NPPD for 15 years and currently resides in Mound City, MO.

MORE SHILOH SCHOOL HISTORY

The Shiloh School District was organized in 1870 with George Trook as the first teacher and enrollment was 27. Miss Ida Nichols taught later at a salary of $28 monthly. The first clerk was J.M. Trimble who, with P.M. Loucks and Isaac Wampler, constituted the first board of directors. The assessed valuation of the district was $92,234.00 and heaviest taxpayer was James Garrett.

In a class photo copy, 1919-1920, Ruth Mohler Fogg was the teacher. The society has a wonderful handwritten history of the school written by Ellen Meyer Abbott Varvel. The Shiloh School building was still standing in 1981.

Local Angus breeders recognized nationally in Pathfinder Report

Jackie Lee Miller, Craig, MO, has been recognized nationally by the American Angus Association for having six registered Angus cows included in the association's 2013 Pathfinder Report. Keith Z. Miller, Craig, also has been recognized nationally by the American Angus Association for having nine registered Angus cows included in the association's report; and Kenneth Roy Miller, Craig, has been recognized nationally by the association for having seven registered Angus cows included in the association's report.

Only 1,992 of the more than 25,000 American Angus Association members are represented in this year's report, according to Bill Bowman, chief operating officer and director of performance programs of the association with headquarters in St. Joseph, MO.

The Pathfinder program identifies superior Angus cows based upon recorded performance traits economically important to efficient beef production. These traits include early and regular calving and heavy weaning weights, Bowman says. Over two million eligible dams with more than 6.8 million weaning records were examined to determine Pathfinder status. In addition, bulls that have sired a minimum of five or more Pathfinder cows are recognized as Pathfinder sires.

All registered Angus cows and sires meeting the strict Pathfinder standards are listed, along with their owners, in the annual Pathfinder Report.

Mound City FFA Chapter

The Mound City FFA Chapter has been busy this 2012-2013 school year. Members started out this past summer with their annual trip to the Royals' game, where all of the members were invited to watch baseball and hang out as a chapter. The officers got together for a leadership building experience at the rope course at Mazingo near Maryville, MO. There they learned to trust each other and work as a team to get past many nerve racking obstacles. Over the summer, they also did two community service events as a chapter. The first event was a Trash Pick-Up on Highway E, and another service that the members partook in was parking vehicles at the Mound City Tractor Pull.

When the school year started, the students didn't hesitate to get things rolling. The chapter visited Graves Chapple Farm where the students learned about many fields in agriculture by industry experts. The sophomore FFA members had a chance to go to Tarkio to hear a FFA National Officer speak about her experiences in the FFA. In October, six members went to Indianapolis, IN, to the FFA National Convention where they attended multiple conferences and participated in a rally to end hunger. The chapter had a barnwarming party that involved food and a pumpkin carving contest. Finally, the FFA members participated in ag contests where they got to test their skills at the Northwest Fall Contest.

During the week of February 17, the FFA recognizes FFA Week. The officers have been busy planning the various events that are going on this week. To get ready for the fun filled week, they had an FFA Kick-Off party, where members hung out and participated in Farmer Olympic Games. Each day of school is a different dress-up day that includes camo day, farmer day, awkward day, and hat and shades day. On Tuesday, February 19, the officers helped serve food at the John Deere luncheon. On Thursday, February 21, the chapter members will have their annual FFA Community Breakfast and bingo with the nursing home residents. On Friday, February 22, the chapter is going to Kansas City for the farm show.

The rest of the year holds even more events and opportunities for this chapter. Members still have all of their spring contests and every team aspires to make it to the State FFA Convention to compete with the best teams in the state. Members are also looking forward to the Chapter Banquet in the spring, where the students will be recognized for their year of hard work.

Jorden Miller, a junior at Mound City High School, was selected as the new State Vice President from the region. She will represent the region at the state and national conferences. She will be installed at the State Conference in Columbia, MO, Tuesday, April 9. This is the first time a Mound City student has held this office for at least 15 years. in charge of organizing and running the 2014 Students Taking Action with Recognition (STAR) Events. Ashley Tudor was selected as the parliamentarian for the region. She will be re-writing the bylaws and making sure that order is maintained at meetings. Both girls are 9th graders at Mound City.

Knights fall to Lions

The South Holt Knights entertained the St. Joe Christian (SJC) Lions on Tuesday, February 12, for South Holt's last home basketball games of the season. Both Knight teams suffered defeat. In addition to basketball action, the large crowd enjoyed a pie-in-the-face contest, as well as an exhibition by the elementary cheerleaders.

The Lady Knights played a close back and forth game with the Lady Lions. South Holt held a 10-9 lead going into the second quarter. Both teams tacked up 12 second quarter points before going into the break. The Lady Lions caught a couple of breaks, as the Lady Knights committed turnovers in the third frame, and SJC took a 34-31 lead into the final period. The Lady Knights pulled back into the lead, as each team vied for the lead in a back and forth one point contest. The Lady Knights held the 41-40 lead with less than a minute on the clock. The Lady Lions answered with a bucket to take a 42-41 Lady Lion lead with 40 seconds on the clock. A missed scoring opportunity by the Lady Knights, followed by an offensive blocking foul on SJC, put the ball back in the hands of South Holt with just 5 seconds left on the clock. Lady Knight Emily Cox caught the inbound pass at the far end of the floor, dribbled its length, and put up a shot that barely rimmed out as the buzzer went off. The Lady Knights took a 42-41 loss.

Knight junior Mac Kelly, left- Drained this three pointer during South Holt's final home game of the season on Tuesday, February 12. Mac scored 4 in the Knights' loss to the Lions.

South Holt Lady Knight- Rachel Binder, right, takes one in the face, as she looks to pass around the St. Joe Christian Lady Lion defender. The Lady Knights played a close matchup against the Lady Lions on Tuesday, February 12, at Oregon, MO.

Chase Howell led the Knights with 10 points. Tobin Sisk added 6 points, Tanner Chaney 5, James Fuller and Mac Kelly 4 each, and Wyatt Jackson 3.

Pie-in-the-face event draws large participation

The South Holt After Prom Committee- Held a fundraising pie-in-the-face contest between varsity basketball games on Tuesday, February 12, at the South Holt gymnasium in Oregon, MO. Principal Pat Ryan, Coach Colby Morris and Cheer Coach Lisa Kelly 'volunteered' to be the targets for the pie-in-the-face event. Anyone could participate for a $1 fee. There were many students still in line when the whipped topping cans were empty, as they, too, would have liked an opportunity to throw a pie. Pictured above, Sophie Richards, left, 'gently' rubs the pie into the face of high school principal, Pat Ryan, right.

Junior varsity player- Jamison Loucks scored on this basket during junior varsity action on Monday, February 11, against the North Nodaway Mustangs. The two quarters of action were favorable for the Panthers.

Panthers claw past Mustangs

In games that seemed to have slow starts, both Panther varsity teams clawed their way to victories on Monday night, February 11, as they hosted the North Nodaway Mustangs in junior varsity and varsity basketball action at Mound City.

The junior varsity Panthers played two quarters prior to the start of the girls' varsity game. The Mound City seniors and parents were announced during senior night recognition prior to the girls' varsity game. Seniors participating in basketball, academic bowl and cheerleading were recognized as follows: Haylee Clifton, Abbey Forehand, Dalton Honea, Brett Johnson, Chelsea Killin, Carina Metzgar, Devin Nauman, Kase Newcomb, Alex Phillips, Elijah Poe, James Walker and Hayston Wilson.

The varsity Lady Panthers got off to a slow start in the first half of play from cold shooting in their contest against the Lady Mustangs. Turnovers and missed opportunities had the Lady Panthers just ahead of the Lady Mustangs, 11-9, after the first period. After a total of 7 points scored collectively in the second quarter, Mound City led 17-10 going into the break. Both teams ignited in the third stanza, and the nets got hot, as the Lady Panthers poured in 21 points, and the Lady Mustangs 10. Mound City continued to play well, and the bench was cleared in the final frame, and the Lady Panthers went on to win, 54-27.

Seniors Alex Phillips and Haylee Clifton led the Mound City team with 20 and 15 points, respectively. Alex also pulled down 10 rebounds, and had 2 assists, 2 blocked shots and 4 steals. Haylee added 3 rebounds, 4 assists and 4 steals. Emily Wedlock had 9 points, 6 rebounds and 2 steals. Kenzie Ashford had 5 points, 4 rebounds, an assist and a steal. Carina Metzgar had 2 points, 3 rebounds and an assist. Kendey Eaton had 2 points and 3 rebounds. Lena Ashford had 1 point, 3 rebounds, 2 assists and 2 steals. The two varsity boys' teams saw a back and forth first quarter that ended with an 8-8 tie. Mound City began to pull away in the second quarter, and took a 21-17 lead into the break. The Panthers exploded in the third period, outscoring the Mustangs 18-4. The Panthers went on to win, 45-28. Miles Loucks and Luke Sanders led the Panthers in scoring with 13 points each. Miles pulled down 9 rebounds, and had 2 blocked shots and had a steal. Luke added 5 rebounds, 6 assists and 7 steals. Hayston Wilson had 9 points, 3 rebounds and a steal. Hayden Marrs had 4 points, 6 rebounds and 2 assists. Kase Newcomb had 4 points, 3 rebounds, an assist, a blocked shot and a steal. Brett Johnson had 2 points, 6 rebounds, 3 assists and 4 steals. Dayne Messer and Dalton Honea added a rebound each.

Colon Cancer Awareness Month

Two Reasons your doctor recommends colon cancer screenings:

1. Colorectal cancer screenings can find precancerous polyps so they can be removed before turning into cancer. In this way, colorectal cancer is prevented.
2. Screening tests can find colorectal cancer early, when treatment is most effective.

Colonoscopies are available at Community Hospital-Fairfax. Talk to your doctor today about scheduling a screening.

Thousands of birds were sighted- At Squaw Creek National Wildlife Refuge near Mound City on Sunday, February 17.

16th Annual Great Backyard Bird Count

The 16th annual Great Backyard Bird (GBBC) Count is an annual four-day event that engages bird watchers of all ages in counting birds to create a real-time snapshot of where the birds are. It was held from Friday, February 15, through Monday, February 18.

Everyone was welcomed from beginning bird watchers to experts. It took as little as 15 minutes on one day, or one could count for as long as they would like each day of the event.

Participants tallied the number of individual birds of each species they saw during their count period. This year, anyone visiting the GBBC website was able to see bird observations pouring in from around the world and contributed their own tallies. Global participation was made possible thanks to eBird, a real-time online checklist program that the Cornell Lab and Audubon integrated into the GBBC for the first time this year. The four-day count typically receives sightings from tens of thousands of people reporting more than 600 bird species in the United States and Canada alone.

Scientists and bird enthusiasts can learn a lot by knowing where the birds are. Bird populations are dynamic; they are constantly in flux. No single scientist or team of scientists could hope to document and understand the complex distribution and movements of so many species in such a short time.

Scientists use the GBBC information, along with observations from other citizen-science projects, such as the Christmas Bird Count, Project FeederWatch, and eBird, to get the "big picture" about what is happening to bird populations.

The results for the Great Backyard Bird Count 2013 had not been released as of press time.
